

Jennifer E. Loew

Jennifer Loew serves as a Trust Fund Administrator at Pacific Federal Benefit Administrators, LLC (PacFed) where she manages several major health and welfare trust funds.

Prior to joining PacFed, Jennifer was employed at Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority's System, Security and Law Enforcement Department, Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors and the Los Angeles Unified School District Board of Education. In those roles, Jennifer spearheaded the creation of agency policies and engaged in the procurement, management and compliance of a variety of multi-million-dollar contracts. Jennifer was also instrumental in acting as a liaison between management and organized labor in negotiating cost of living increases and health and welfare benefits for International Brotherhood of Teamsters (Teamsters); American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSME); Amalgamated Transit Union (ATU); Sheet Metal Workers' International Association (SMART); and United Teachers Los Angeles (UTLA).

Jennifer holds a juris doctorate degree from Penn State Dickinson Law, where she was certified as a Cherry T. Millage Public Interest Advocate. She earned her bachelor's degree from the University of California, Los Angeles where she graduated magna cum laude.

In her free time, Jennifer enjoys spending time with her husband and three children. She also advises the Unite LA Foundation, her family operated not-for-profit organization, on issues related to homelessness, community policing and human trafficking. The Unite LA Foundation is a 501.c.3 that is focused on creating safe, clean and thriving communities in and around Los Angeles County.
